Be a Geeta Volunteer : A Path to Serving Humanity

Introduction

On the 8th of October 2023, LearnGeeta Pariwar organized a transformative webinar aimed at shedding light on the various departments crucial to the success of LearnGeeta. Distinguished senior volunteers took the stage to articulate the roles of volunteers and the specific requirements for each department. The gathering commenced with a heartfelt "Jai Shree Krishna," emphasizing the importance of balancing devotion and strength in our lives. This event, "Be a Geeta Volunteer," sought to encourage individuals to contribute their time and energy to the LearnGeeta community. To begin the program, Ms. Supraja Didi recited a prayer, highlighting the significance of reaching out to the divine for blessings and making our lives more meaningful with the time we have.

The Geeta Pariwar Network - Geeta Pariwar offers numerous opportunities for individuals to serve and be part of a vast network dedicated to spiritual growth and community service. These opportunities are spread across eleven distinct departments, each with a unique purpose and set of requirements.

1. Calling and Support - The Calling and Support Team serves as the foundation of the Geeta Pariwar network, where the initial interaction with members begins. This department is responsible for welcoming new members, assisting with attendance, resolving issues, providing support during events, and more. To join this department, individuals must be above 18 years of age, commit at least 15 to 20 minutes daily, and have a genuine willingness to assist others

2. Technical Assistance and Communication - Technical Assistance and Communication ensure that LearnGeeta sessions run smoothly and efficiently. This department is tasked with tasks like sharing session links, starting sessions on time, and managing technical aspects to guarantee an uninterrupted learning experience. Prospective volunteers should be at least 16 years old and possess a smartphone, laptop, or computer with a stable internet connection. Commitment is essential, as volunteers are expected to dedicate one hour every day for four weeks.

3. Group Coordinator - Group Coordinators play a crucial role in maintaining consistency and communication among all sewis. They ensure that different departments work cohesively to facilitate an effective learning journey. To become a Group Coordinator, one should be at least 25 years old, have coordination skills, basic technology knowledge, and the ability to allocate 1 to 2 hours daily.

4. Admission Department - The Admission Department is responsible for enrolling participants in the Learngeeta journey. It involves two sub-divisions: 'Adding' and 'Communications.' Volunteers in this department must be at least 16 years old and have basic smart phone skills. Training is provided before joining.

5. Creative Writing - The Creative Writing department creates summaries and discussions for Learngeeta sessions in multiple languages. Volunteers listen to live discussions, understand them thoroughly, and rewrite them for learners to understand better. This department provides flexibility, allowing volunteers to work on weekends and weekdays. Prospective volunteers should have a device and creative writing skills.

6. Graphic and Animation Department - The Graphic and Animation Department enhances announcements and messages with visual elements. Volunteers in this department should have graphic design knowledge and familiarity with social media. The work can be done at any time, and support is provided to newcomers.

7. IT and Software Development - The IT and Software Development department is vital to Learngeeta's success. Volunteers here work on maintaining codes, developing new pages, database management, mobile app development, and more. They receive training and aim to make Learngeeta accessible to all.

8. Offline Store - Learn Geeta Pariwar now offers offline services alongside online ones. The Offline Store allows individuals to order Shrimadbhagavadgeeta books in different languages to share the teachings of Lord Krishna. Joining this service enables one to serve society and connect with people globally.

9. Bal Sakha Department - The Bal Sakha Department caters to the youngest members of the Geeta Pariwar. Volunteers below 16 years can join and assist with various tasks, such as adding new learners and resolving issues.

10. Geeta Pracharak Dept. - Geeta Prachark services connect people with the LearnGeeta platform, providing essential tools like flyers, pamphlets, banners, and social media materials to spread awareness.

11. Trainers - Volunteering as a trainer involves teaching Geeta and deepening one's understanding of its teachings. To become a trainer, individuals should be at least 18 years old and have passed at least one of the Geeta exams with a score of at least 85%.

How to join a Department

To join any of these services, individuals can visit LearnGeeta.com and fill out the respective form for the department they wish to be a part of. To be part of more than one department, one should fill in separate form.

Conclusion

The LearnGeeta webinar provided detailed information about the eleven departments where individuals can serve as Geeta Volunteers. Following the informative sessions, a Question-Answer session allowed participants to seek further clarification on these roles. The event concluded with an inspiring message about the significance of service, emphasizing that by becoming a part of the Geeta Pariwar community, individuals can contribute to this profound Mahayagya, deepening their spiritual journey while serving humanity. Respected Ashu bhaiya and Geet Goving Bhaiya guided the participants clarifying their questions to their satisfaction.
